

PARTNERSHIP PROPOSAL

(CORPORATION)

AND

NATIONAL TRUST OF AUSTRALIA (WA)

AUSTRALIAN CARBON TRUST

(COMMUNITY DIVISION)

The National Trust of Australia (WA) is a not-for-profit, community-based conservation organisation. We take a holistic approach to the assessment and management of heritage places, recognising that each place may include some or all of the following values: aesthetic; social; historic; spiritual and conservation.

The National Trust is well established as an international leader in the conservation field. The Trust in Western Australia is proud to uphold the organisation's strong reputation and is making a significant contribution to the conservation and interpretation of Western Australia's heritage.

This partnership proposal will enable the (Corporation) members and the broader community to contribute financially to assist in the reduction of carbon in the atmosphere by facilitating purchases of cleared, degraded farmland and planting of trees and shrubs on a large scale. (Corporation) and community members will have the satisfaction of participating in an organised, accountable and audited program providing significant benefits of improving landscapes and productivity in an otherwise deteriorating farm land environment.

The (Corporation) members will specifically have opportunities to offset their vehicle and domestic carbon emissions.
